

Katie was introduced to the Ellensburg community while she earned her bachelor's degree from Central Washington University. During her time as a cheerleader and student at CWU she met her husband Aj, though others might have known him as Wellington. Ten years later they made the decision to return to Ellensburg to raise their family.

With experience in business development, fundraising, social media campaigns and volunteer recruitment she is excited to serve the community as the Marketing and Events Coordinator at the EDA. During her free time Katie enjoys running, family camping trips, listening to podcasts and is an avid reader.
